

Audrey S. Brown

Audrey S. Brown is the President and Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the Florida Association of Health Plans. Brown has held leadership positions in both the private and public sectors and has over a decade of insurance legislative and regulatory experience.

Most recently, Brown served as chief of staff to Florida Insurance Commissioner Kevin McCarty where she was chief policy advisor to the commissioner, chief lobbyist on agency fiscal matters and managed the operations of the Office of Insurance Regulation. Additionally, Brown served as deputy chief of staff to the commissioner and as director of government relations.

Prior to that, Brown was the manager of Contract Compliance & Administration for AvMed Health Plans. She began her professional career serving in the Executive Office of Governor Jeb Bush. Brown attended Florida State University and graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Political Science.