

Cindy Mann

Cindy Mann is a partner at Manatt, Phelps & Phillips, guiding states, providers, plans, consumer organizations and foundations on creating and implementing effective strategies around federal and state health reform, Medicaid, Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP), and delivery and payment system transformation. She formerly served as the Deputy Administrator and Director of the Center for Medicaid and Children's Health Insurance Program Services (CMCS) at the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS), where she led the administration of Medicaid, CHIP and the Basic Health Program for more than five years during the implementation of the Affordable Care Act (ACA).

Ms. Mann's prior positions include research professor at the Georgetown University Health Policy Institute, where she was founder and director of the Center for Children and Families, senior advisor at the Kaiser Commission on Medicaid and the Uninsured, director of the Family and Children's Health Program Group at the Healthcare Financing Administration (HCFA), now CMS. Ms. Mann earned a bachelor's degree from Cornell University and a J.D. degree from the New York University School of Law.